FACULTY

SCHOOL

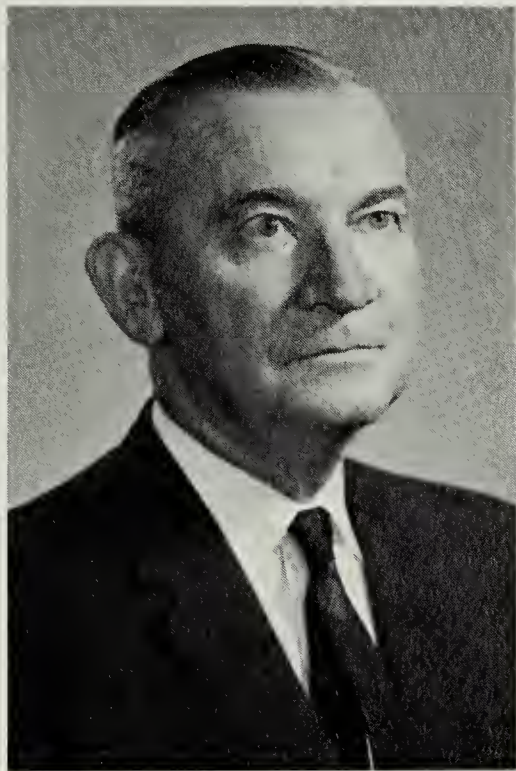

Mrs. Harrison has proved herself capable of organization despite constant interruptions.

Mrs. Betty Harrison
Secretary

Mrs. Harrison, school secretary, pleasantly and efficiently assists students in matters ranging from the purchase of pencils to the signing of tardy slips. Mrs. Harrison daily attends to the many phases of school life affected by the office.

ADMINISTRATION

Mr. J. Frank Hillyard, Principal

Mr. Hillyard talks with a parent, Mrs. Cline, during Back-to-School night.

Concern . . . to have an interest in.

Concern . . . for the efficient administration of school policies.

Concern . . . for individual adjustment and happiness.

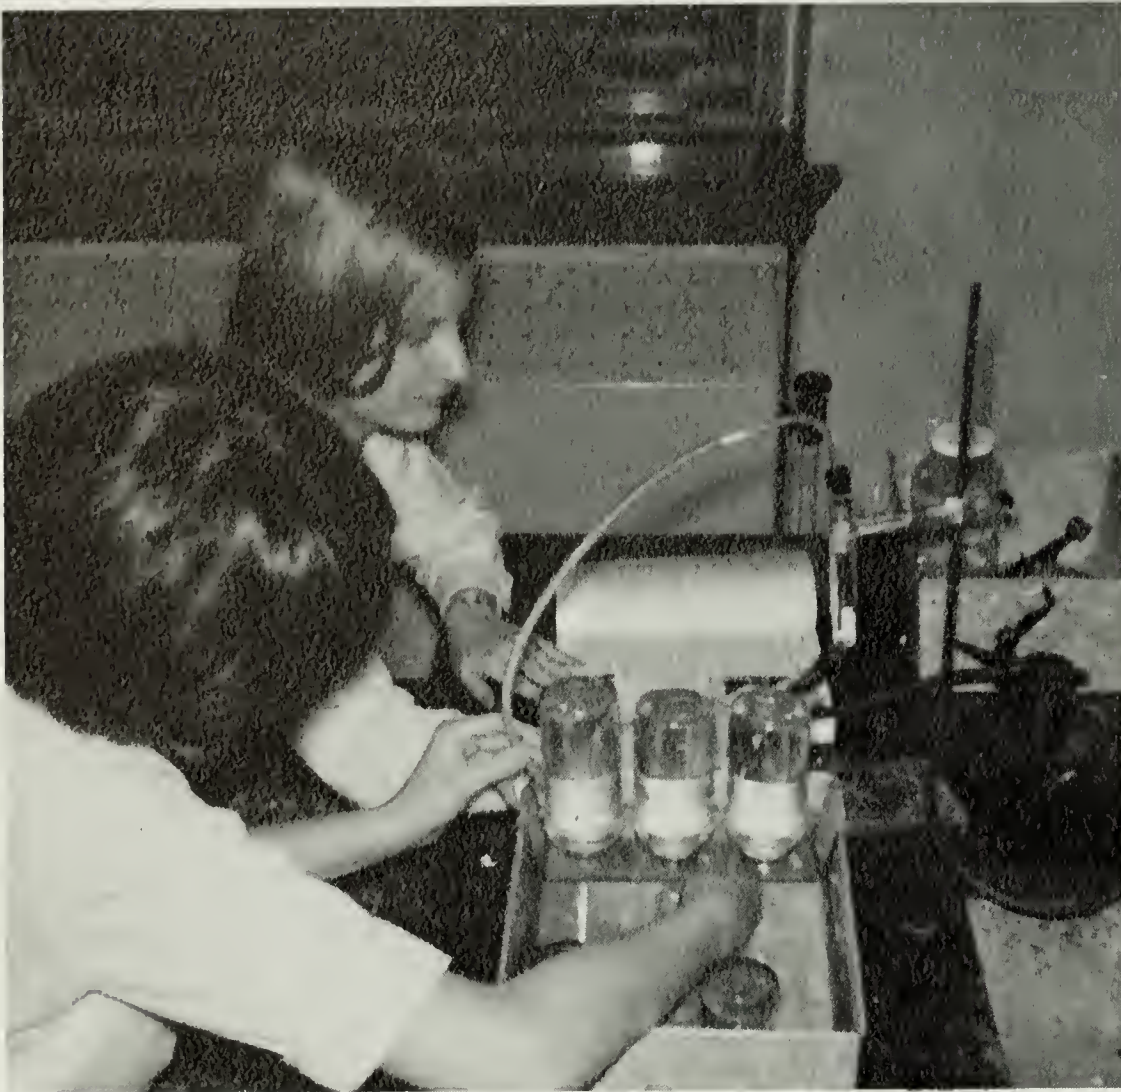

Concern . . . for the problems and frustrations of each student.

Concern . . . for the school's athletic and academic accomplishments.

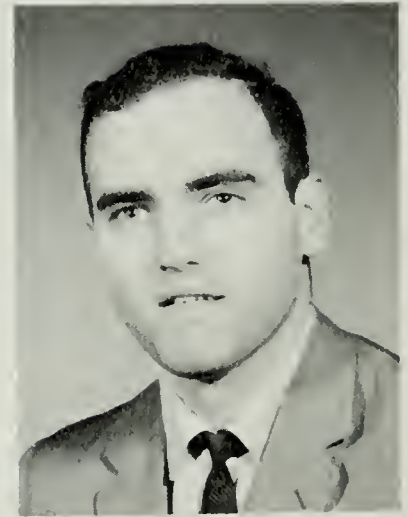

Concern . . . for the upholding of the traditions and ideals for which Broadway High School stands.

These are the concerns of our principal, Mr. Hillyard, and for this interest and concern for Broadway High and its students, we thank him.

SCIENCE

Marilee Black and Kathy Davis prepare oxygen in the chemistry lab.

Mr. Paul Lee.

The science courses offered at Broadway range in complexity from Science 9 to Physics.

Science 9 students receive a general background of information on which to build in future science courses.

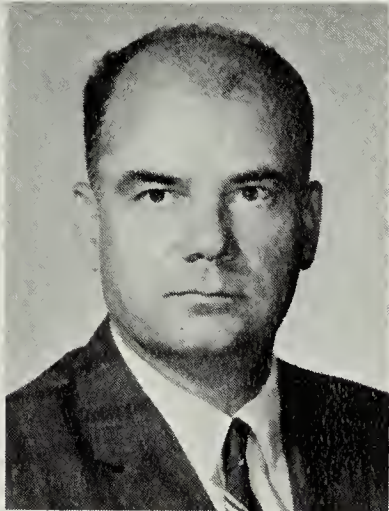

With the aid of microscopes, model cells, dissecting instruments, and intestinal fortitude, biology students discover the world of plants and animals.

A chemistry student's life at times seems to center around valences, formulas, and molecular equations. Formulas are often long and complicated, such as, $C_{17}H_{35}COONa$. . . would you believe soap???

Such problems as calculating the speed of light and sound must be solved by students courageous enough to undertake the study of physics.

This year, to comply with state regulations, science students must wear protective goggles when working with harmful substances.

DEPARTMENT

Mr. Wayne Myers.

Mrs. Charlotte Ridings.

Mr. Jones demonstrates a cloud chamber to interested physics students.

Biology students examine paramecium with the aid of microscopes.

Mr. Esch, a student teacher from E.M.C., observes a senior English class he will later be teaching.

Mrs. Mary Bell

Mrs. Jean Cash

ENGLISH

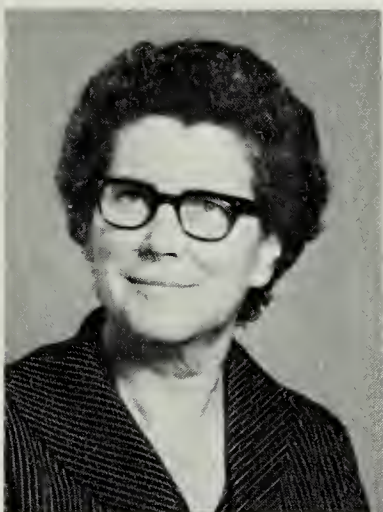

Dennis Showalter demonstrates the correct way to pitch a baseball in English 10.

Mrs. Joy Clougherty

Miss Betty Driver

Mrs. Lennis Garber

Mrs. Nellie Wampler

Miss Linda Wettersten

DEPARTMENT

"Why is English required four years?" is a question often asked by grammar-weary students. The answer . . . English is basic . . . basic for man's understanding of man.

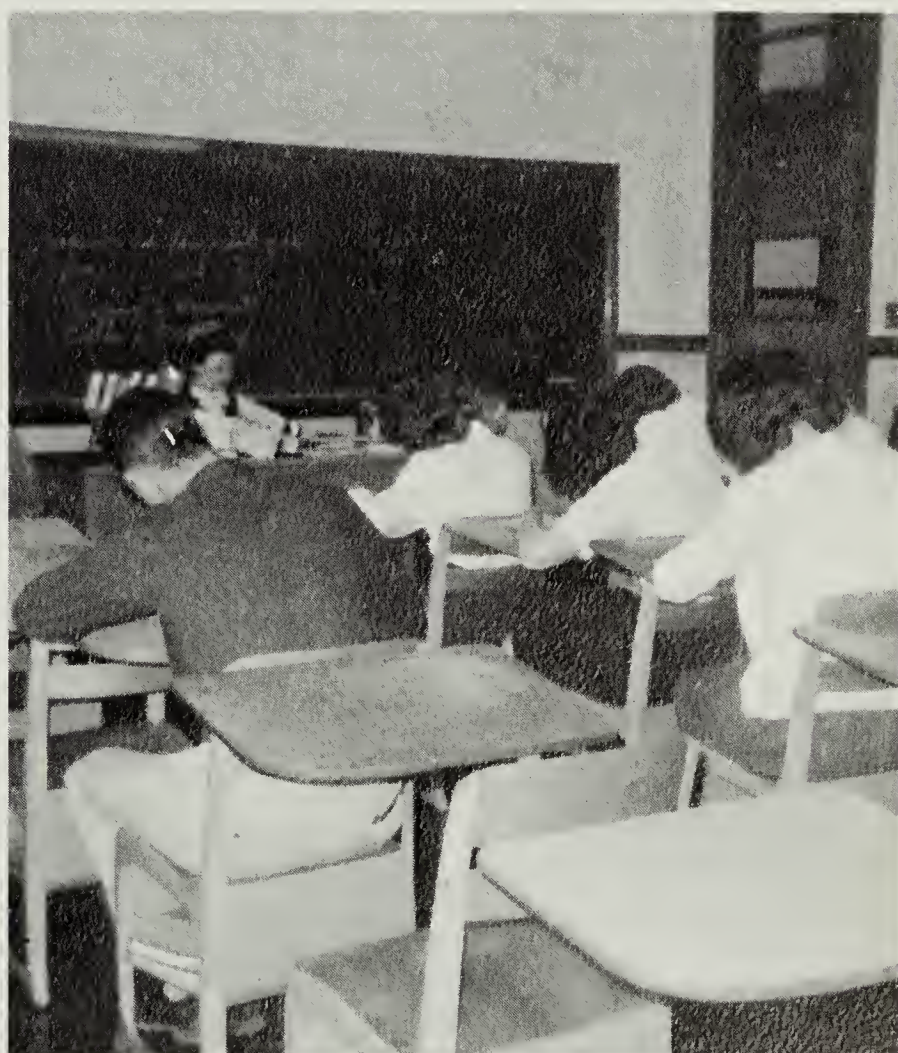

Fundamental concepts of grammar and a general study of literature comprise the English courses of freshmen and sophomores.

A detailed study of American literature from its earliest writers, such as John Smith, to its contemporary masters such as Hemingway, Thurber, and Frost provides the theme for junior English.

Seniors encounter the great works of the English masters . . . Chaucer, Shakespeare, and Shaw. They study the works of English authors from the primitive Beowulf to the Shakespearian drama Macbeth.

As the student's appreciation for literature deepens, he realizes that literature truly is the best that man has thought, felt, said, or accomplished.

Creative English is the only specialized course offered at Broadway in the English field. Aspiring journalists, as well as those students who merely enjoy the opportunity for creative expression, work together to publish the school paper, to develop their personal philosophy, and to study creative writing.

Literature tests form an essential part of English 12.

MATHEMATICS

Mr. Dale Dodrill

Mr. Cecil Hartman

Mr. Joseph Jones

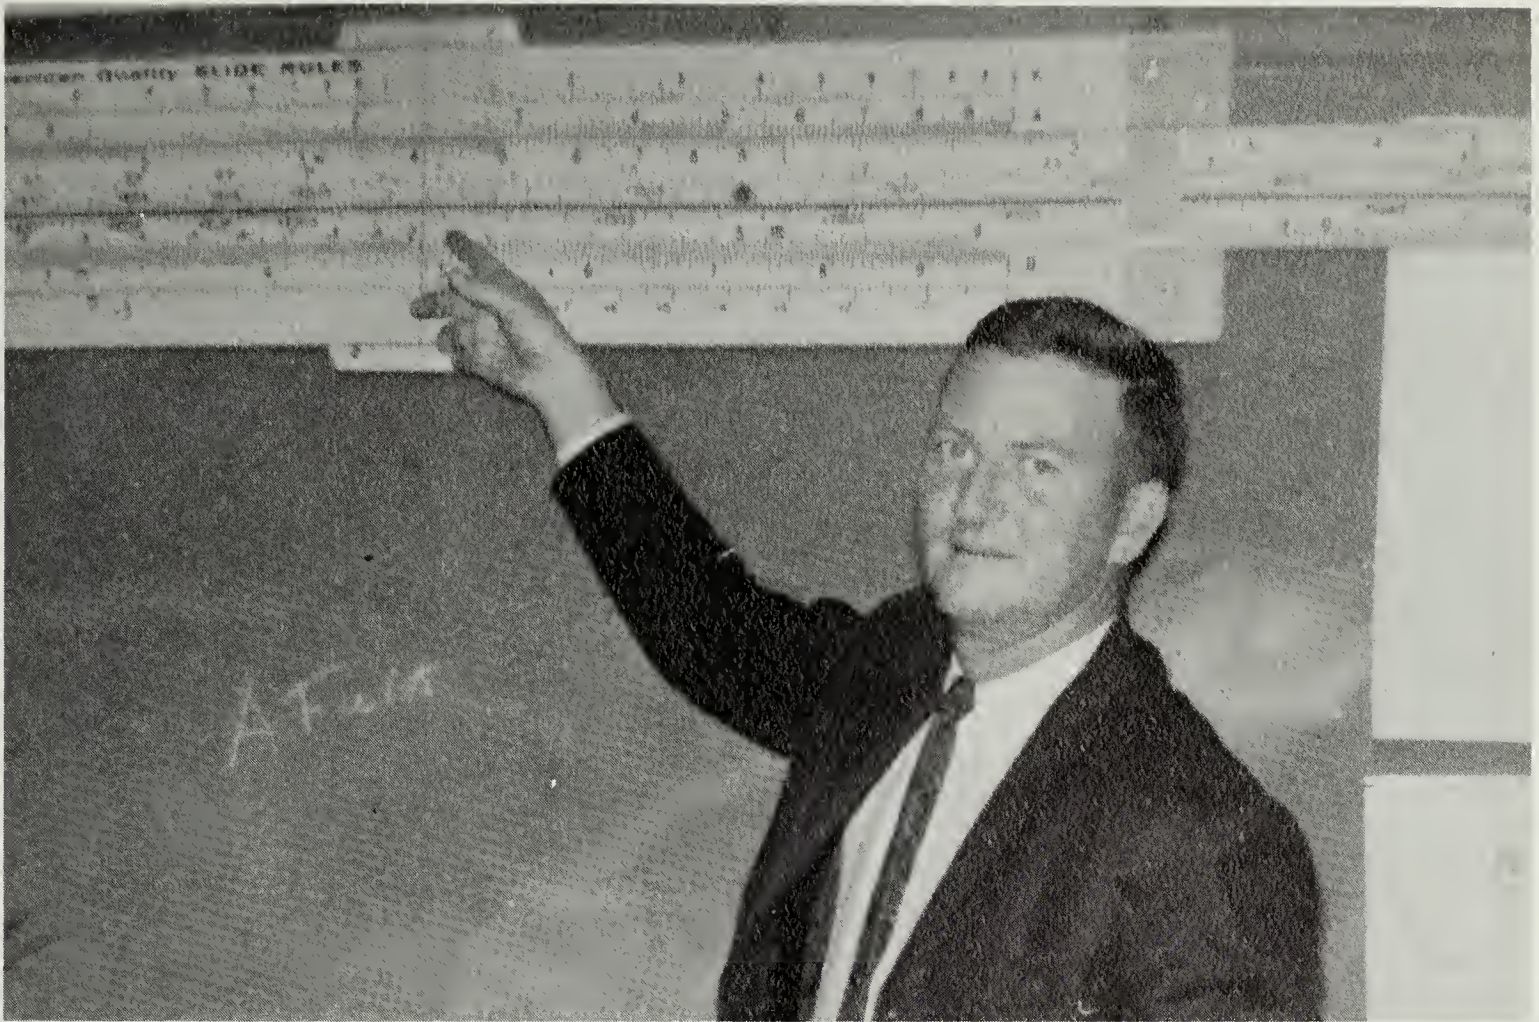

Yes, it really is a whole trig problem!

Math . . . the headache of many; the joy of a few!!

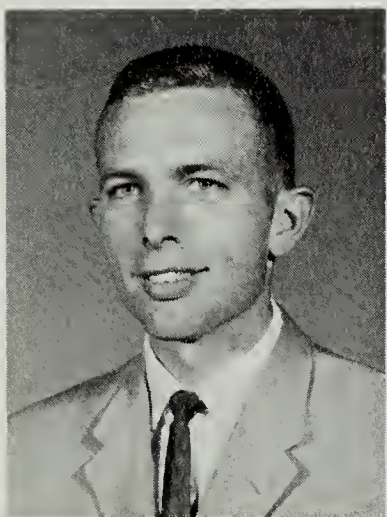

Students begin their study of mathematics with Algebra I. Geometry students can be heard mumbling essential theorems, axioms, and definitions in an attempt to prove that two unseemingly equal angles are really equal! Algebra II students struggle with problems of everyday relevance, such as determining the rate of speed of a boat being rowed up stream. Of course, the first thing one must determine is "Which way does the river flow, up stream or down stream?"

A student's reasoning ability is put to the supreme test in analysis. Among the more "complex" problems is proving that $1 \neq 0$ and that $1+1=2$! Past knowledge of definitions and theorems are disregarded as students are introduced to symbolic logic.

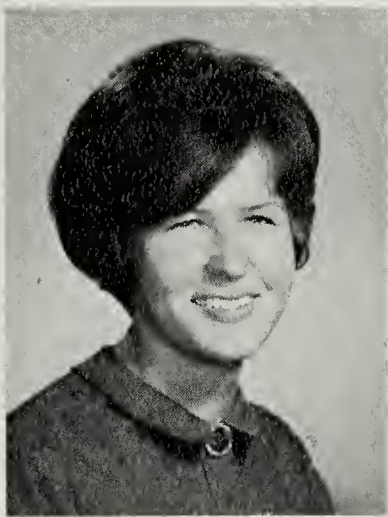

This year a new course, consumer math, is being offered. As a senior course, consumer math is a general review of previous math. Since it is a practical math course, aspects of everyday life, such as installment buying, taxes, and budget planning, are discussed.

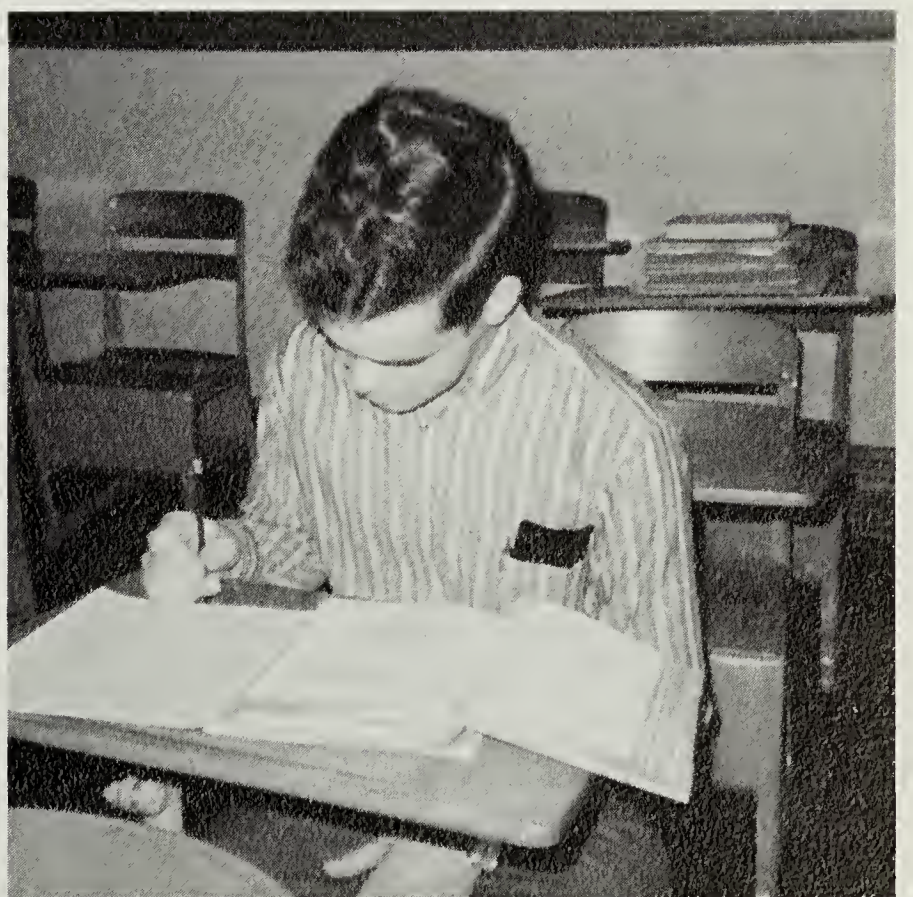

Mr. Jones demonstrates the use of the slide rule to his physics class.

Mr. Danny Myers

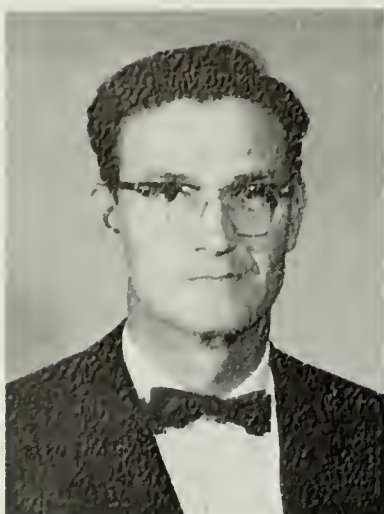

Mrs. Virginia Phlegar

L. C. Hutton diligently solves an Algebra II problem.

LANGUAGES

Mr. William Kyger

Mrs. Phoebe Orebaugh

Students who feel that they have "mastered" the English language are given an opportunity to study also French and Spanish, each two-year courses.

With the aid of the lab language teachers can more accurately measure the proficiency and progress of each student. The lab also allows students to stumble over the pronunciation of new words in the privacy of his own booth!

French students are taught not only the basics of grammar and pronunciation, but also the history of France and her people.

Dialogue and conversation are a fundamental part of Spanish I. Emphasis is placed on the grammatical and writing principles in Spanish II.

Since Latin is no longer offered at Broadway High, students have been denied the "opportunity" of translating Julius Caesar and the Gallic Wars.

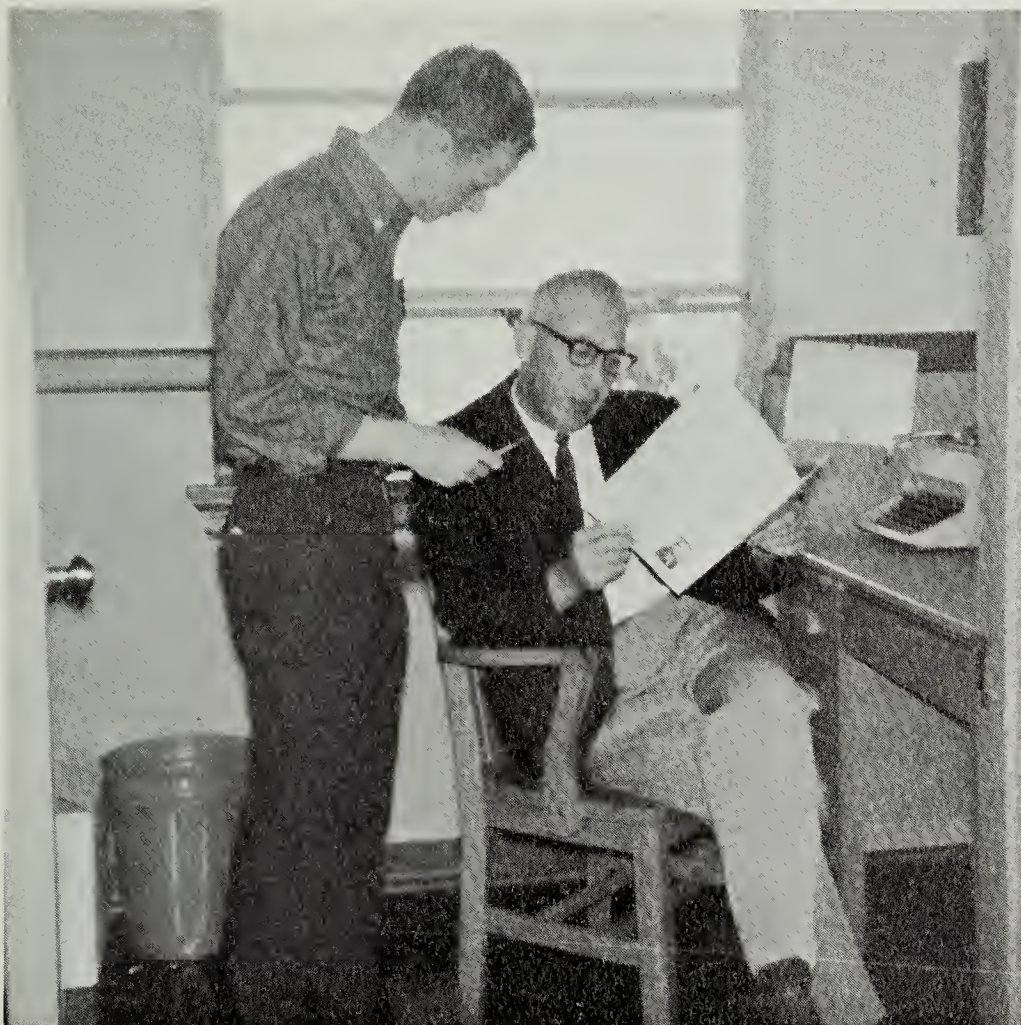

The recording station in the language lab facilitates Marilee Black in the comprehension of Spanish.

Mrs. Phoebe Orebaugh prepares to drill her French students with the assistance of the lab.

GUIDANCE

Mr. Eye discusses college plans with Buteh Emswiler.

Mr. Walter Eye

Mrs. Branner helps an underclassman plan her schedule for next year.

The guidance department works closely with the office as it strives to help each student with personal or scholastic problems. Mrs. Branner, Mr. Eye, and Mrs. Wampler are available throughout the day to assist underclassmen in planning schedules, or to counsel upperclassmen about college and career opportunities.

SOCIAL SCIENCES

Mrs. Mary Orebaugh's government bulletin board helps students pick their candidates.

Mr. James Moyers

Social sciences . . . a study of society and the activities of its members.
 United States government and civics are taught to prepare the student to take an active part in the government of his community as an informed citizen.
 World history students study the events which have molded the world from the beginning of recorded time to the present.

American history enables students to trace the development of their nation from the landing at Jamestown to "The Great Society."

The study of economics provides the student with a degree of sophistication in the managing of finances. A study of world social problems is incorporated in the economics course.

Mrs. Mary Orebaugh

Shirley Keister, Joyce Blosser, and Debbie Wittig use a tape recorder in Mr. Moyers' government class to record their court case.

Mrs. Lois Rhodes

Mr. William Woolf

BUSINESS

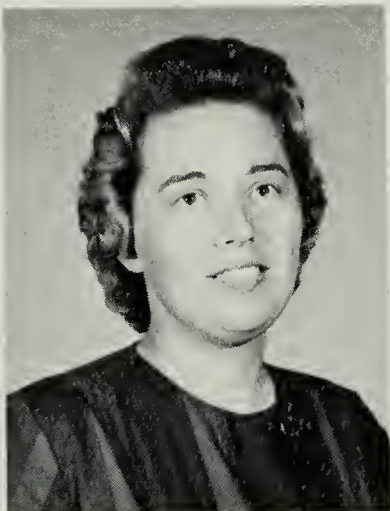

Mrs. Sager demonstrates the correct position at the keyboard.

Students preparing for a career in business are offered many courses at Broadway including typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping, and general business.

Timed writings and letter dictations prepare students for jobs as future secretaries and stenographers. Learned skills are put into practice as bookkeeping classes keep an actual set of books for a specified time.

Business courses, such as typewriting, aid students in typing themes, book reviews, and term papers, even though they do not plan a career in business.

Mrs. Mary Mitchell

Mrs. Viola Sager

Mrs. Betty Strother

AGRICULTURE

Mr. I. W. Diehl

Mr. James Hively

Parents inspect the FFA exhibit for American Education Week.

Mr. Leonard Estep attempts to guess the weight of a pumpkin.

Vocational Education in agriculture is an integral part of the total school program. The course is based upon the needs, interests, and capabilities of the individuals enrolled and the communities to be served.

Vocational Agriculture at Broadway High currently provides for four years of instruction. The first two years are devoted to basic agricultural science and mechanics. During this period basic principles of mathematics, science, and economics are reviewed and applied to agricultural situations. These years of study provide much of the knowledge and skills common to production agriculture and employment in agricultural industries.

The major emphasis in the last two years of agricultural education is developing proficiency in production agriculture and providing basic education required for entry and advancement in employment in the broad field of off-farm agricultural businesses.

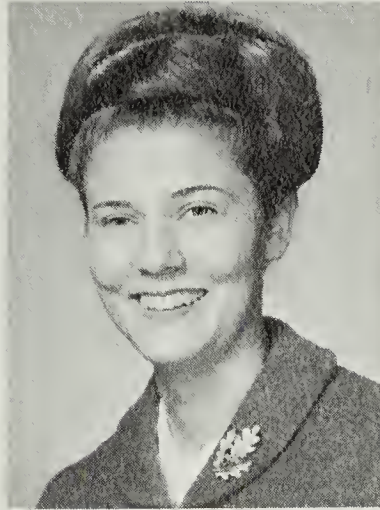

HOME ECONOMICS

Clothing construction is an important part of Home Economics.

Areas stressed in Home Economics classes cover a broad space from foods and nutrition to child development and family relations. As stated by the White House Commission, Home Economics today should include not only a study of nutrition, clothing, housing, and furnishings, but also the handling of family finances, the purchase of consumer goods, the uses of family leisure, and the relation of individuals and families to society.

The educating of girls to prepare them for the dual role of homemaker and career woman, the more effective serving of youth from underprivileged families, and the informing of youth as to the career possibilities in home economics is stressed.

Mrs. Nancy Bender

Mrs. Catherine Miller

Mrs. Miller talks to parents on "back-to-school night."

BOYS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Mr. Thomas Allebaugh

Mr. Jack Arbogast

In the interest of promoting physical, as well as mental fitness and health, the boys physical education department provides a rigorous schedule of sports, including football, basketball, wrestling, track, and tumbling. Participating in these activities teaches the boys coordination, leadership, and sportsmanship.

During the year units in drivers' education, mental health, and personal appearance and hygiene are also taught.

The training and skills gained in physical education classes often lead to participation in extra-curricular sports.

A ninth grade physical education class engage in a few isometrics.

GIRLS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

A program of instruction, including both health and physical education, comprises the study for girls' physical education classes. Responsibility and leadership are developed as girls participate in such team sports as basketball, field hockey, volleyball, and softball. Opportunities for developing individual skills are also provided by such activities as modern dance, tumbling, and archery.

The girls' health program includes studies of nutrition, first aid, driver safety, and personal appearance.

Mrs. Mary Holm

Mrs. Bonnie Smith

Mrs. Smith directs the beginning of a girls' hockey game.

MUSIC

Mr. Branner opens a birthday present given to him by the band members.

Mr. Eddie Branner

The study and enjoyment of music provide some of the greatest satisfactions and joys known to man. By acquiring skill and participating in music, one learns to appreciate this fine art.

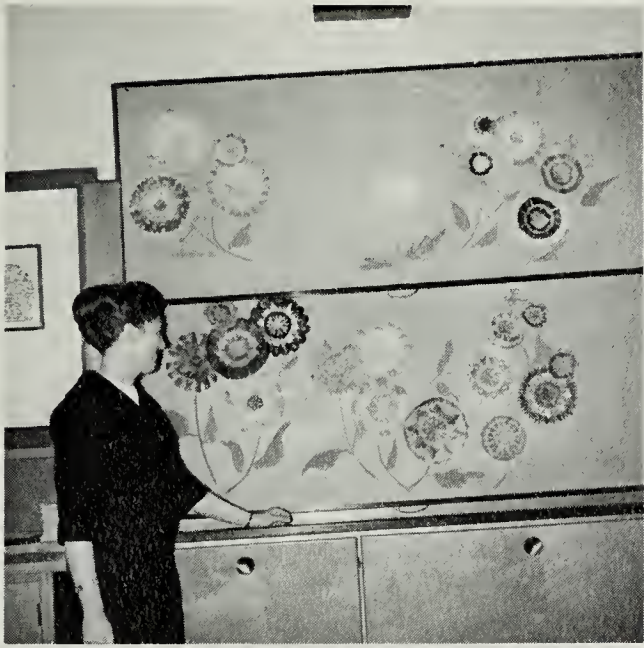

The music classes strive to develop music appreciation by teaching vocal harmony and by introducing the works of great composers such as Bach and Handel.

Mr. Miller sings along at Melody Anns' practice.

Mr. Joseph Miller

Mrs. Campbell admires some work done by her art students.

ART

The creative ability of students is given an opportunity for expression through the work done in Art I and Art II classes. The talents of the student can be witnessed by the many and varied displays which add interest to the halls and art department.

Sketching, weaving, and painting, as well as work with mosaics are included in the art student's course of study.

Mrs. Billie Campbell

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

As a two year course, Distributive Education correlates classroom training and work experience. This course features "on-the-job training" for those students desiring work experience while still in high school.

DE students attend regular classes each morning and are employed in local business establishments each afternoon.

Mr. William Butcher

Mr. Butcher explains a sales technique to one of his DE classes.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Mr. H. G. Alexander

Mr. Carlyle Lynch

Shop students learn basic techniques in woodworking.

Mr. Lynch explains the techniques of woodworking to one of his students.

Drafting . . . the language of industry. In drafting, as in the Chinese proverb, "one picture is worth a thousand words." From the drawing boards of draftsmen come such engineering feats as towering skyscrapers, impressive bridges, and supersonic jets. Drafting, taught on a semi-professional basis, provides the student with immediate job opportunities as well as preparation for college work.

Individual skills are developed as Shop I students learn the techniques involved in woodwork. Advancing with their learned skills, Shop II students spend the first semester working with metals. Electricity, from basic concepts to more complex aspects, provides the topic of study for second semester.

In all industrial arts classes films bring the modern industrial techniques of Cleveland, Pittsburgh, and Birmingham to the classrooms of Broadway High School.

Mrs. Louise Showman

As students struggle with reports, term papers, and book reviews, the library becomes a welcomed refuge.

Aside from furnishing information needed for research, the many books lining the shelves of the library provide students with a world of entertainment from Shakespeare to Steinbeck.

The purchase of many needed books was made possible this year by a grant from the Federal Government.

LIBRARY

Mrs. Showman talks with an interested parent during American Education Week.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

Mrs. Walker converses with Linda Ritchie and Linda Mitchell.

Equal educational opportunities are provided for all students at Broadway High. An understanding of English and math, both basic in today's world, are acquired by students in these classes. The use of films, television, and other special materials provides students with a more comprehensive understanding of the subjects taught.

Mrs. Rosalie Walker

NON-TEACHING

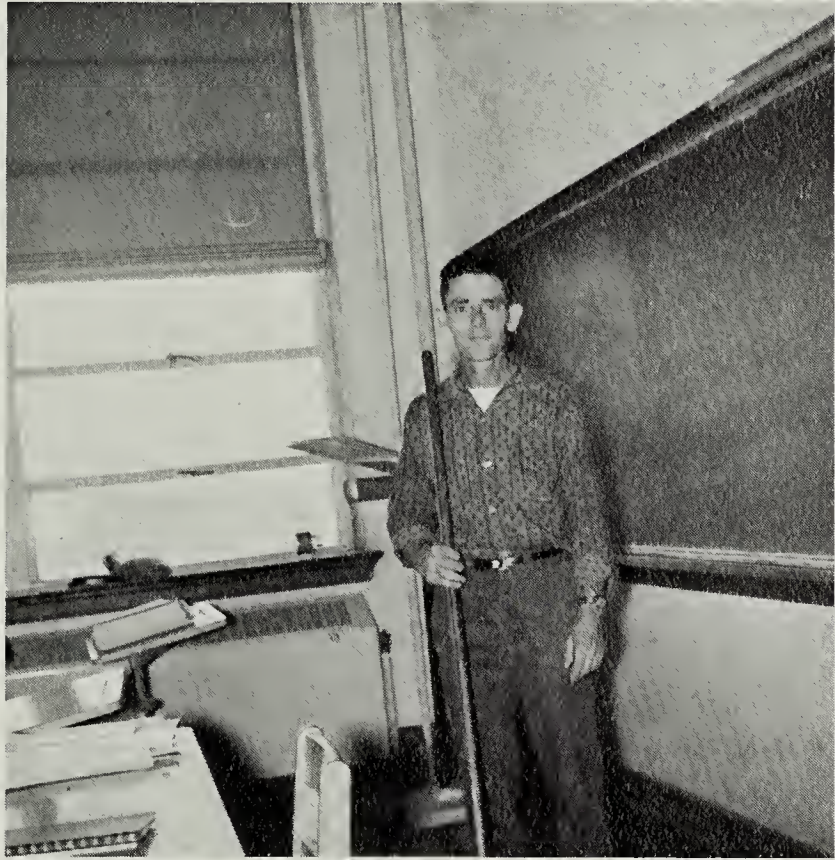

Mrs. Grace Long, Mrs. Hazel Ritchie, Mrs. Catherine Holsinger, and Miss Rebecca Crist.

Each student, though often totally unaware, owes much to the non-teaching personnel of Broadway High School. A staff of four cooks, Mrs. Rebecca Crist, Mrs. Catherine Holsinger, Mrs. Grace Long, and Mrs. Hazel Ritchie, begin early each morning to prepare lunch for over 800 Broadway High School students.

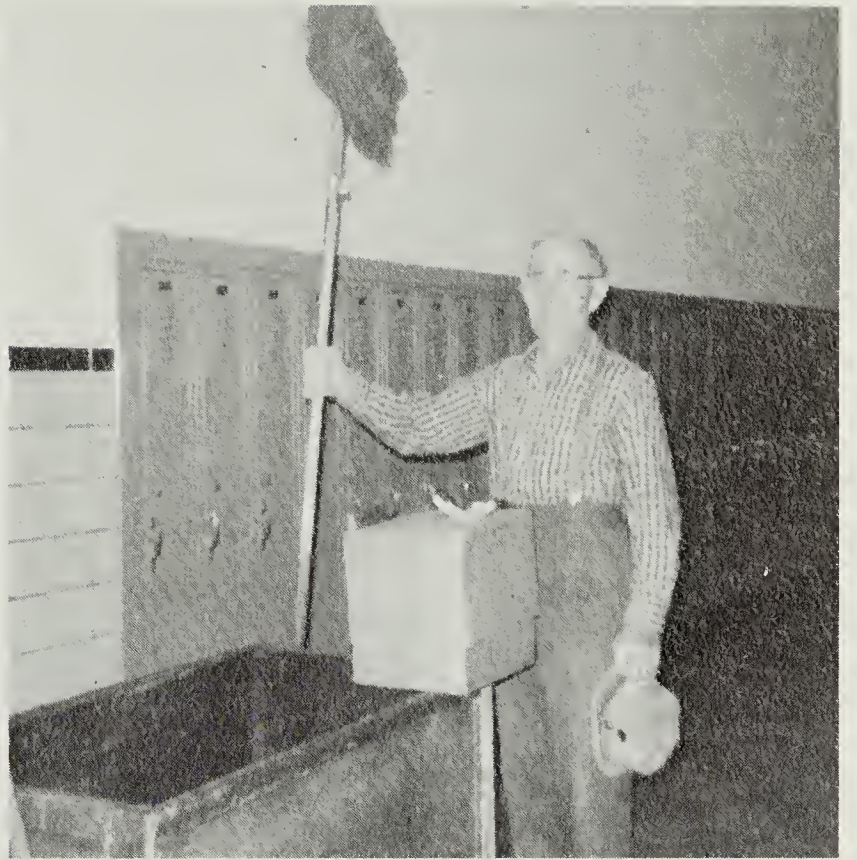

As students slam locker doors and leave for home, the work of the custodians is just beginning. Each evening rooms are cleaned, halls are swept, and trash cans are emptied! Mr. Carl H. Turner, Sr., serves as the school's full-time custodian. Serving as part-time custodian and bus driver, Mr. Raymond Hosinger can be seen doing a variety of jobs around Broadway. He serves as the school's postman and bus driver. The Holsinger family, Mr. and Mrs. Holsinger and their pet dog, Margie, are familiar figures in the halls each evening.

SENIORS

They received their graduation ring . . . a symbol of their achievement.

They waited . . . college boards taken, applications completed . . . now, only that letter of acceptance was needed . . . and finally it came.

They earned that long-awaited diploma . . . and in the spring of 1967 they left . . . never again to return to Broadway High as students, only as alumni . . . five years of oneness, now broken by one day commencement.

MARCHING BAND

Concert Formation

The Broadway High School Band provides an opportunity for those students interested in continuing their study of an instrument from grade school or for those interested in beginning in high school. The band members practice during activity period each day. Broadway does not give a credit in band, so the participants are motivated mainly by their own enjoyment.

The band is a vital part of many school activities. As a marching band, it provides half-time entertainment at home football games and participates in the area's summer firemen's parades and Christmas parades. As a concert band, it enters the district band festival for rating purposes and plays for the spring concert and Christmas assembly. Each year the band sends talented representatives to the All-District Band workshop and festival.

The band plays the school song as the football team comes down the hill.

GROUPS

ted Chorus

The Choral Department, under the direction of Mr. Joseph Miller, consists of the Mixed Chorus, Melody Anns, Melodaires, and the Girls' Glee Club. Throughout the year each group presents music programs for school and community activities. The Mixed Chorus participates in the District Choral Festival held each spring. Select members of the Chorus attend All-District Chorus.

This extra-curricular activity provides an opportunity for those interested in vocal music to participate in group singing and to develop an appreciation for music as a fine art.

GREEN QUILL STAFF

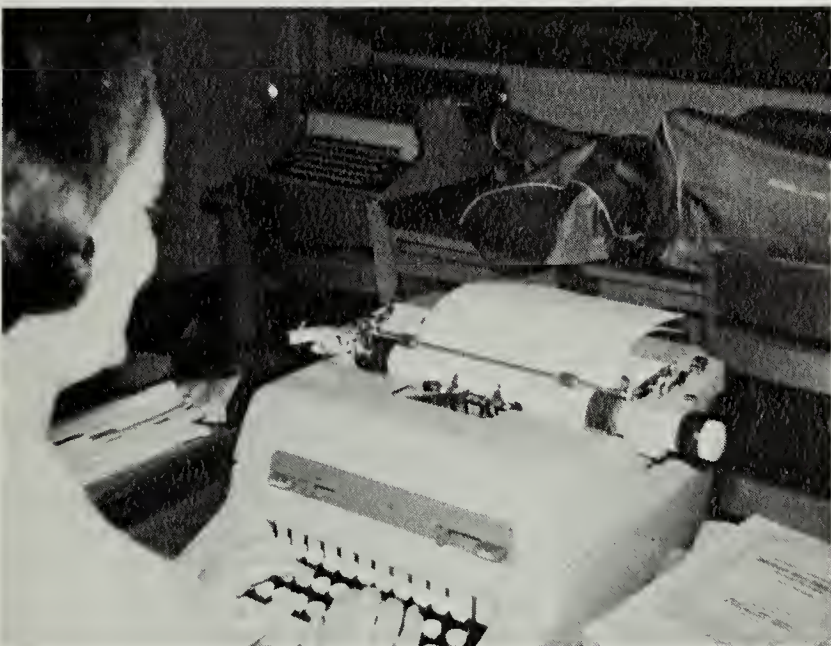

The Green Quill Staff prepares the paper to meet a press deadline.

Sue Harvey, Editor and Kathy Davis, Assistant Editor.

Mrs. Rebecca Branner, Sponsor

Sherrie Mathias types copy for the paper.

The Green Quill Staff, alias the Creative English Class, publishes the school paper, "The Green Quill," four times each year. The staff's duties range from the covering of school activities to the distributing of the paper. Mrs. Rebecca Branner, sponsor, works patiently with the staff in overcoming the many problems involved in the publication of "The Green Quill."

MEMORIES 1967

Miss Betty Driver, Adviser

Saraona Minnich, Editor

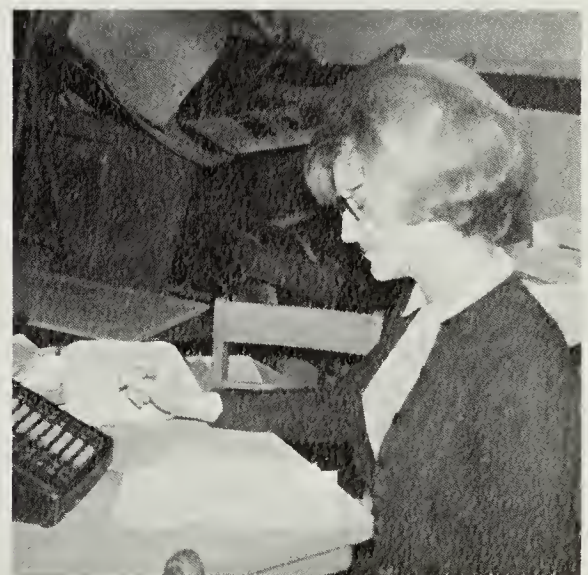

Marilee Black and Susan Mathias, Assistant Editors

Memories 1967 does not try to portray a specific theme as in past years. Rather this year the intent is to portray school life as it exists here at Broadway High, day-to-day, week-to-week, and month-to-month.

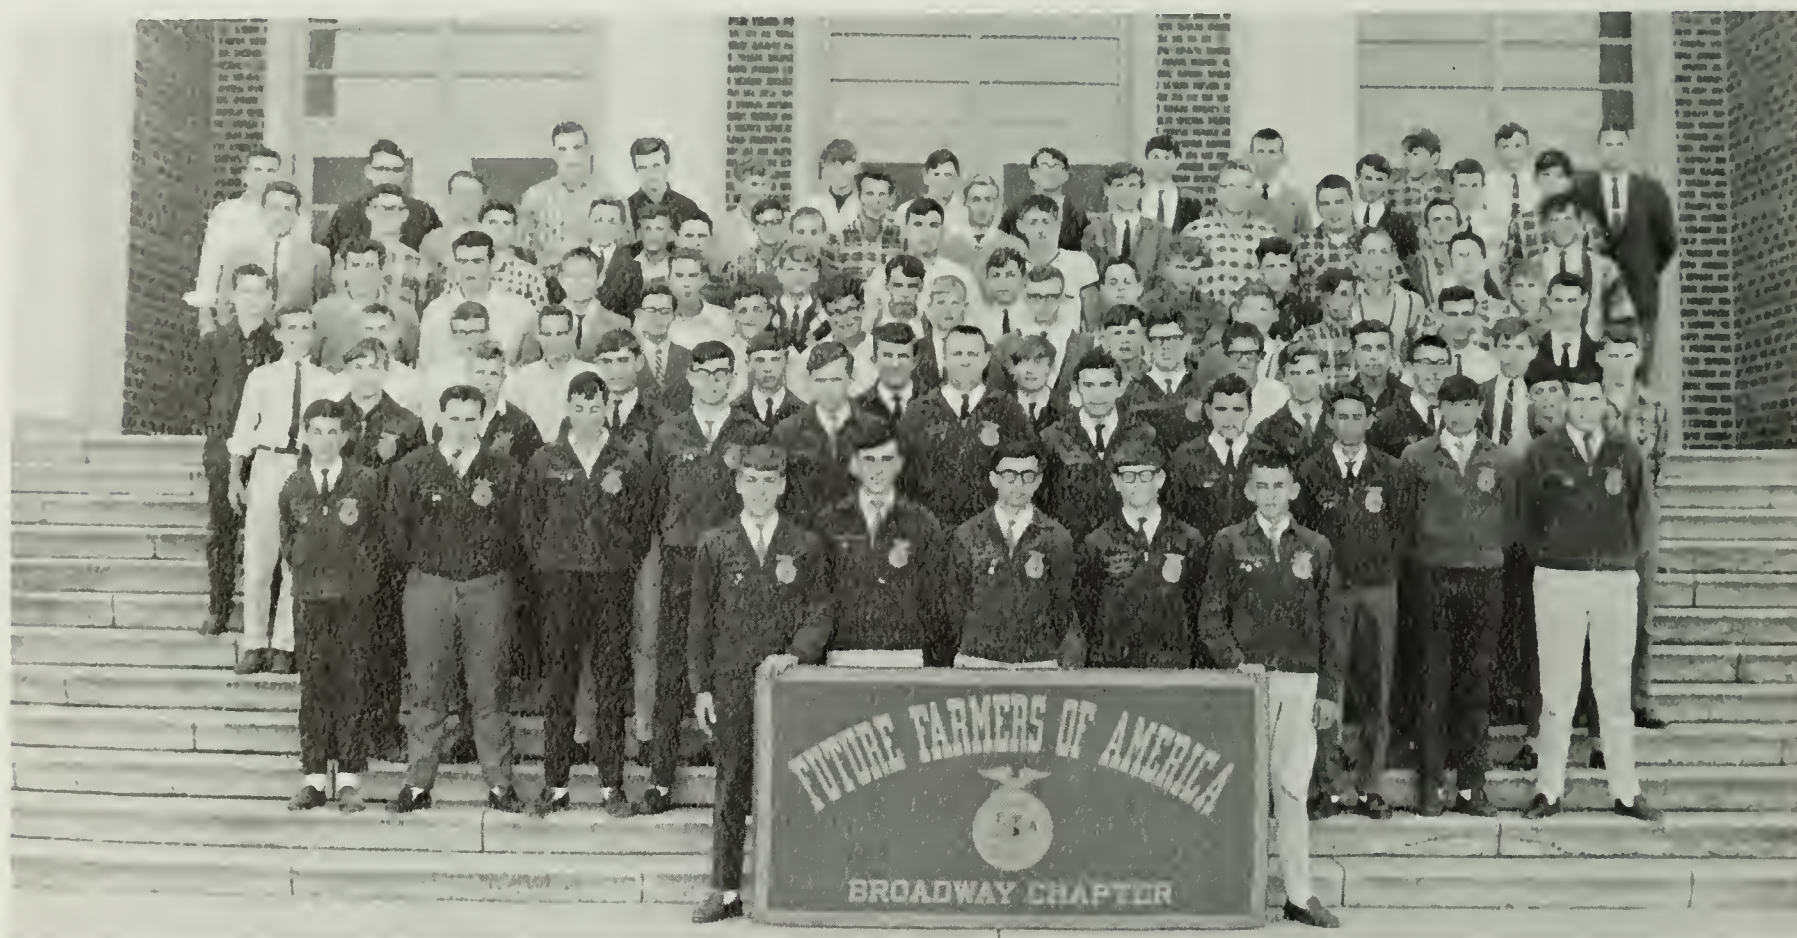

Kathy Davis and Sue Harvey, Co-copy Editors

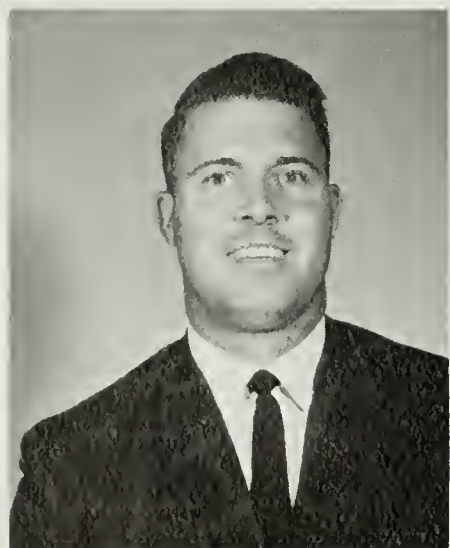

Nancy Mitchell, Business Manager

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

FFA OFFICERS: Allen Ritchie, President; Barry Mathias, Vice-President and Federation Vice-President; Tommy Lohr, Secretary and Federation Treasurer; Larry Turner, Treasurer; Douglas Crider, Reporter; Dennis Moubray, Sentinel.

Mr. Hively, Advisor

The development of agriculture, leadership, cooperation, and citizenship is the primary aim of the Future Farmers of America. The motto of the organization, "Learning to do, doing to learn, learning to live, living to serve," shows the true viewpoint of farm youth.

The local FFA chapter encourages its members to participate in local, state, and national FFA activities. The Broadway FFA Chapter sponsors annually a crop and grain show, a National Rifle Association Safety Program, and a Christmas toy repair shop to provide gifts for underprivileged children in the community. This year the Chapter also sponsored, in cooperation with the FHA, a Leadership Training Program for all school and club leaders.

Welby Showalter, Judy Higgs, Mark Getz, and Ronnie Williams attend the Leadership Training Program.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

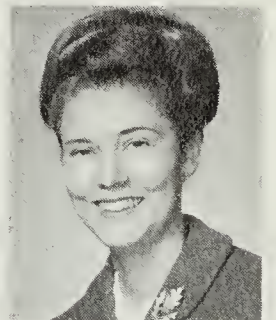

FHA OFFICERS: Sherrie Mathias, president; Patty Carper, vice-president; Brenda Alger, secretary; Debbie Smallwood, treasurer; Joyce Blosser, reporter; Debbie Wampler, historian.

An FHA initiate shines Mr. Eye's shoes.

As members of the Future Homemakers of America, girls actively participate in projects for family, community, and world improvement. In keeping with the organization's motto, "Toward New Horizons," the FHA promotes the development of creative leadership in home and community life, and emphasizes the importance of joy and satisfaction in home-making. The Broadway Chapter sends representatives to state and national conventions.

Throughout the year the FHA sponsors a Christmas coffee, serves the Athletic Banquet, and prepares bulletin boards pertaining to the organization's activities.

Mrs. Bender, Sponsor

SAFETY PATROL

The Broadway High School Safety Patrol

Mr. Danny Myers, Adviser

The Safety Patrol is an organization devoted to bus and traffic safety. Members of the Safety Patrol serve as assistants to the bus drivers in enforcing safety rules, thus insuring the safety of students on their way to and from school.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB

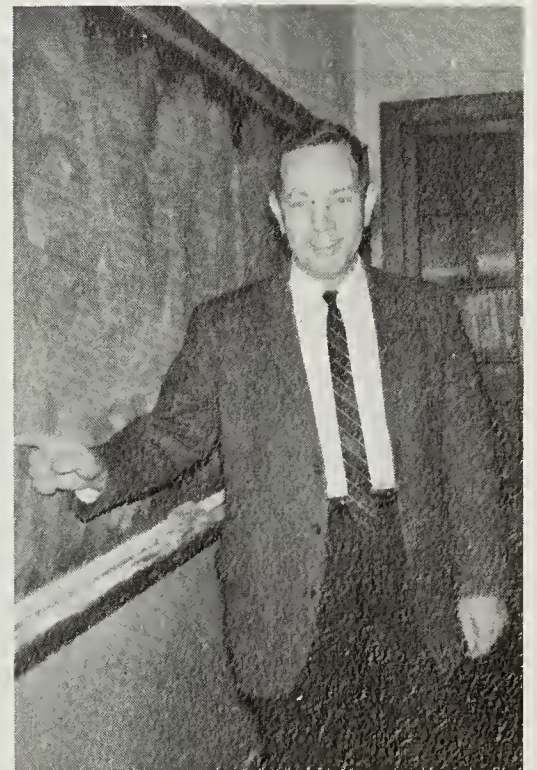

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB OFFICERS: Jim George, President; Earl Hulvey, Vice-president; Gloria Cline, Secretary-treasurer; Kenneth Miller, Sergeant-at-arms.

Russell Horn and Kenny Miller find that teamwork makes a job go faster.

The activities of the Distributive Education Club are an essential part of the Distributive Education program at Broadway. Members of the Broadway club participate in district and state competition. Students display their abilities in such areas as salesmanship and merchandising.

Mr. William Butcher, Adviser.

ELI DRAMATIC CLUB

First formed in 1955, the Eli Club has attracted members noted for constructive interest in entertaining an audience by applying basic principles of drama. The school offers no course of essentially drama, so the club becomes the media for learning a small part of a large field.

Eli has had several successes. In the past four years the club's one-act play has twice rated Superior in District competition and performed in the One-Act Play Festival at Charlottesville. The club actively performs in the Christmas program, the Community Easter Sunrise Service, the one-act plays, and other community programs.

Two necessary requirements for admission to the club are a sincere interest in drama rather than being a "club member" and performing an original skit.

Miss Driver, Advisor

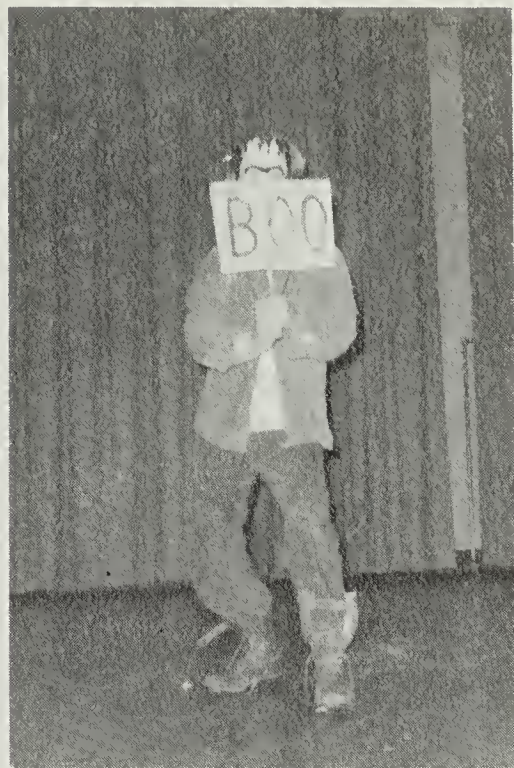

Eli initiates relax very informally after a delicious buffet supper.

Susan Mathias, the Jolly Green Giant, says a prayer for protection from bugs in her Valley.

Carla Wittig is Granny Goodwitch in the skit that helped her win the Miss Eli title.

Kathy Davis, alias Frankenstein, attempts to scare the audience during her skit.

Spitty, Jack the Ripper, Minnich chooses Miss Driver as her next victim.

Anne "Batman" Spitzer and Jennifer "Robin" Dean go zooming off in the Batcar.

SCIENCE CLUB

Science Fair Coordinator Marilee Black and her assistant June Turner plan this year's Science Fair.

Mrs. Charlotte Ridings, Adviser.

The Science Club at Broadway High tries to help students increase their interest and knowledge in science. Members of the Science Club are students who have taken or are taking their second year of laboratory science.

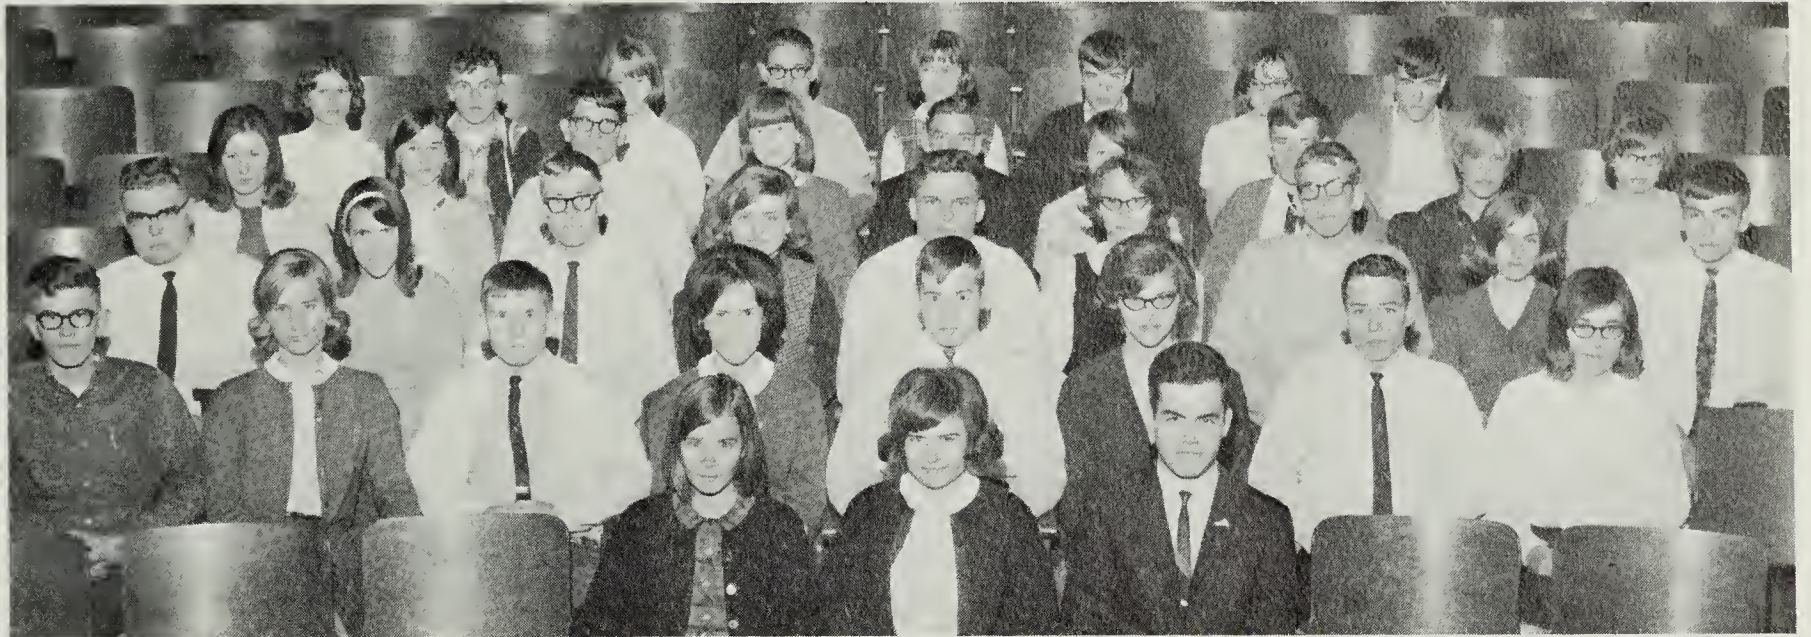

Members of the Science Club conduct experiments for the science teachers at Broadway upon request; every year the Science Club sponsors a Science Fair in cooperation with the National Science Fair-International.

The Broadway High Science Club is a member of the Virginia Junior Academy of Science and the Science Clubs of America.

SCIENCE CLUB OFFICERS: Sam Sligar, President; Sharon Showalter, Vice-president; Susan Myers, Secretary; Don MacKenzie, Treasurer; Shelia Williams, Reporter.

STUDENT COUNCIL

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS: L. C. Hutton, president; Judy Higgs, vice-president; Peggy Hulvey, secretary.

Since 1952 when Broadway's Student Council was formed, it has worked through informal discussion to help students solve the perplexing problems of their relationships between themselves, their faculty, and the administration.

The Student Council is comprised of representatives of the student body. It consists of one boy and one girl from junior and senior homerooms and one boy or girl from sophomore and freshman homerooms.

This year the Student Council has added to its activities the sponsoring of two assemblies each month: one for upperclassmen and one for underclassmen.

The effective function of the Student Council depends upon the active interest of the students of Broadway High and their chosen representatives. The Student Council provides the opportunity for each student to voice his concerns and opinions on school life at Broadway.

Mr. Jones, Sponsor

Student Council officers assist parents in finding their children's classrooms on "Back to School Night".

PEP BAND

The Pep Band provides entertainment and support at most of the away football games and plays at all pep rallies. Members of the band are "volunteers" who find their own ways to the games, pay their own admission, and take their instruments.

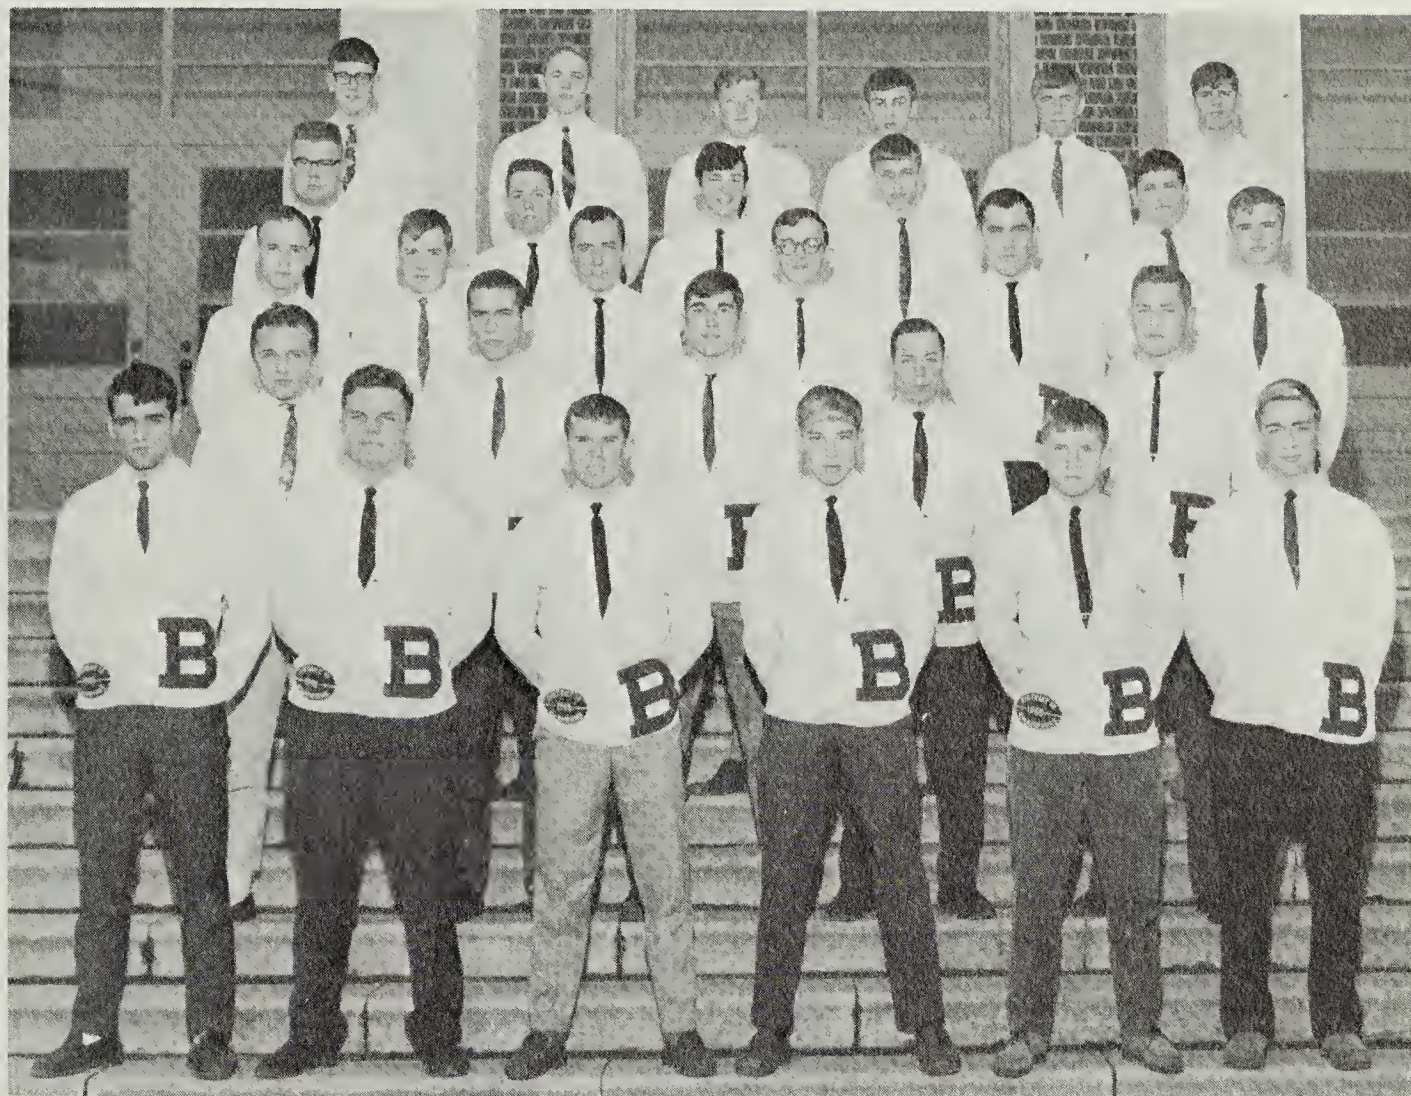

The Pep Band plays at our bonfire pep rally before the T.A. game.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB

Mr. Jack Arbogast
Adviser

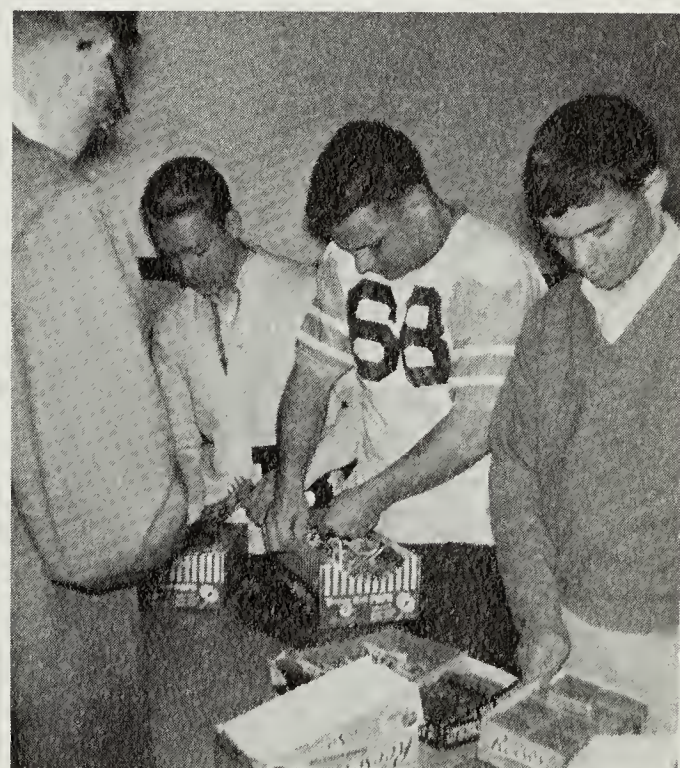

LETTERMEN'S CLUB OFFICERS: Gary Souder, President; Marvin Shifflet, Vice-president; Jim Wampler, Secretary-treasurer; Hunter Hollar, Reporter.

Steve Rhodes checks the popcorn machine before a basketball game.

The Lettermen's Club encourages true sportsmanship and high scholastic achievement in each of its members. The club is composed of boys who have lettered in one or more of the sports: football, basketball, baseball, or track. Members of the club operate concession stands at home basketball and football games and a coat check at home basketball games.

The green and white Gobbler jacket, received by each Senior member, highlights membership in the Lettermen's Club.

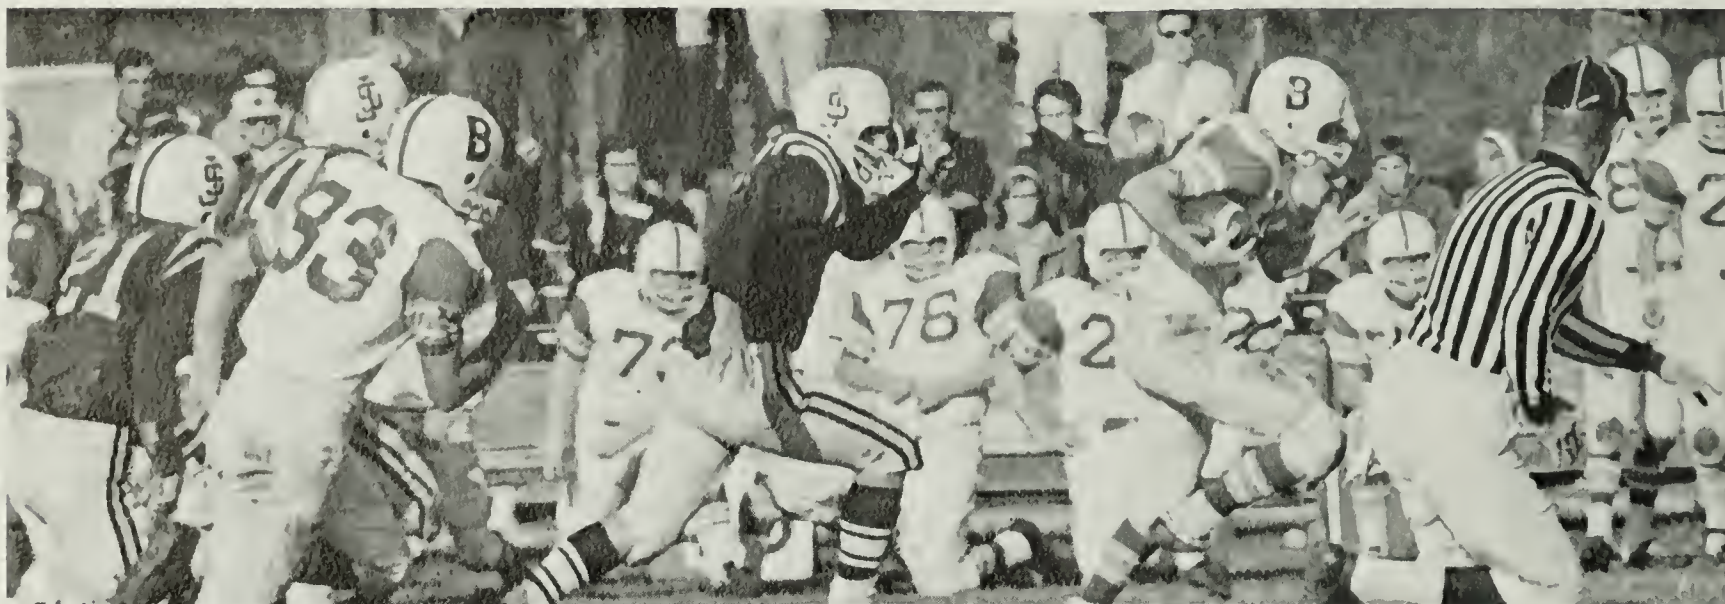

Don Souder, Joel Swank, and Marvin Shifflett sell candy to a hungry basketball fan.

A Thanksgiving motif is the theme for the refreshments served at "back-to-school night."

Following their children's schedule of classes, parents were given an opportunity to meet with teachers and learn of the year's work. Confused parents were assisted in their search for the right classroom by members of the Student Council. Refreshments, prepared by the Home Economics department, were served in the cafeteria following the hour of classes.

Aching feet are all in a night's work for Student Council members.

Mr. Dodrill, Mrs. Mitchell, and Mr. Kyger are caught in an off-guard moment before "classes."

THE END OF THE DAY . . .

Fellow Seniors,

Upon graduation from high school we will be faced with some of the most far-reaching decisions of our lives. Before us lies the beginning of a life on our own in a land of opportunity. With the idea that our success rests upon our own initiative, let us set our goals in life high enough to challenge the very best within us and make our best better.

James Wampler
President of Senior Class

All success begins with a dream. So, one must never be afraid to dream. If a man is to make his dreams come true, he must first be ready to work and to sacrifice. More important, however, he must believe in himself—in his worth both as an individual and as a member of society, and in his ability to meet the challenges of living.

L. C. Hutton, III
President of Student Council

1966-'67 — "It was a very good year" for Broadway High School. We were District 10 leaders in football, champions on Classroom Kwiz . . . To the class of 1967, it was their "one brief shining moment"—their "Camelot". But to the remaining classes at Broadway, this past year has only been a beginning—one more step forward. Their future and that of Broadway High now rests in their hands . . . it is whatever they will have it be. I leave with them my best wishes.

Saraona F. Minnich
1967 Editor of "Memories"
